

List of Short-form Possessive Adjectives

ADJECTIVE TYPE	MASCULINE SINGULAR FORM	MASCULINE PLURAL FORM	FEMININE SINGULAR FORM	FEMININE PLURAL FORM
First person singular (yo)	mi	mis	mi	mis
Second person informal singular (tú)	tu	tus	tu	tus
Second person formal singular (usted)	su	sus	su	sus
Third person singular (él , ella)	su	sus	su	sus
First person plural (nosotros)	nuestro	nuestros	nuestra	nuestras
Second person plural (vosotros)	vuestro	vuestros	vuestra	vuestras
Second person plural (ustedes)	su	sus	su	sus
Third person plural (ellos , ellas)	su	sus	su	sus

Mi is an example of a short-form possessive adjective with only two distinct forms.

EXAMPLES

mi libro my book

mis libros my books

mi bolsa my bag

mis bolsas
my bags

Nuestro is an example of a possessive adjective with four distinct forms.

EXAMPLES

nuestro perro our dog

nuestros perros
our dogs

nuestra casa our house

nuestras casas
our houses

Possessive adjectives are MOSTLY placed before the noun they modify and are not used with a definite or indefinite article.

Check out these examples of sentences with short-form possessive adjectives.

EXAMPLES

Mi amigo peruano es guapo.
My Peruvian friend is handsome.

¿Dónde están tus libros?

Where are your books?

¿Son sus niños?

Are they your children?

Nuestra casa es muy grande.

Our house is very big.

Vuestras flores son muy bonitas.

Your flowers are very beautiful.

Su carro está allá.

Their car is over there.

Tricky Cases

In Spanish, possessive adjectives are normally not used when talking about body parts. Instead, you'll see a definite article used in Spanish, though in English translations a possessive adjective may be used.

Body parts

EXAMPLES

Me duele el brazo.

My arm hurts.

Tienes los ojos verdes.

Your eyes are green.